No Confederate Supreme Court. "It is a curious fact," said a New Or leans man, "that the Confederate con gress never created a supreme court. The matter was before the Richmond congress, but no statute was ever passed authorizing such a tribunal.

'It was in a debate over this very topic in the Confederate senate that the personal encounter between Ben Hill of Georgia and William L. Yancey of Alabama occurred. The senate was in executive session. The Georgia sens tor was speaking in favor of the creation of a court of last resort whose powers should in a way be halited. Yancey looked on this idea with disfavor, and during the course of Hill's remarks he interrupted with the insulting statement that Hill had given utterance to a lie. No sooner had he used the offensive word than Hill, picking up an inkstand, hurled it with great force at his defamer. The glass struck Yancey over the eye, inflicting a severe wound, but doing him no permanent injury, although stories were long current that the blow finally caused his death."-Washington Post.

They Worship Smallpoz. "They worship smallpox in western Hindustan," said the missionary. His auditors gave a gasp of horror.

"But don't misunderstand me. Don't get a wrong impression," he resumed "I don't mean to say that they love smallpox and desire it. On the contrary, they loathe and fear it; hence their worship, a worship born of bate and terror.

"They have a goddess of smallpox She has a cruel face, two mouths, four red hands. They pray to her regularly. Fresh dowers are always lying at her feet. A special priest tends her Prevention Better Than Cure.

In these days, when most medical men are on the still hunt for miracutous cures, specifics in one or other form, it is easy to lose sight of, at least to fall to give sufficient attention to, the matter of the cause or causes of disease and of the means of prevention as well as of the really scientific because so often simple measures calculated so to help nature as to enable her to successfully perform a cure. We all remember how the profession ransacked the entire earth for some medicament that should "cure" scurvý No better illustration of what good old Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes declared to be shameful to the profession could be given than the various "treatments" for scurvy till some thoughtful layman discovered the true cause of the disease to be lack of vegetable food. A rational supply of vegetables or fruit and fruit juices and a diminished ration of salt meat sufficed to render all the armies, navies and camp dwellers of the world "immune." -Health Culture.

Siberian Convicts. Some interesting phases of Siberian life are described in Samuel Turner's book on that country. Of the exiles he writes: "When I told a Siberian friend that I carried a revolver as a protection against wolves I was promptly informed that I had much more reason to fear the human wolves I might encounter, and this, I found, was a gen eral view of the case. About one-third of the criminal exiles escape all control. Armed with a stick, to which is attached a strong piece of cord or catgut, they will approach the unwary traveler from behind, throw the cord round his neck and quietly strangle him by twisting the stick, to rob him at their leisure of whatever he may possess or secure his passport in order to make their escape from the coun-

A Siberian Wonder,

The scientists have for years been perplexed over the wonderful frozen well at Yakutsk, Siberia. As long ago as 1828 it was announced that the ground was frozen to an abnormal depth at the place referred to. In the summer of 1829 a Russian merchant set a gang of men to the task of ascertaining the depth of the frozen stratum. some thirty feet in solidly frozen ground. The Russian Academy of Sciences took the matter in hand and between 1838 and 1844 dug to a depth of 382 feet and then abandoned the shaft because the earth was still frozen as er penetrate to such a depth, and the phenomen in is still unexplained.

"Woodman, Spare That Tree." occurred during a visit of this gentleman to the old homestead. It had passed into other hands, and the proprietor was about to cut down the fine ris' grandfather. The poet redeemed the tree for $10, and the stately oak was thus spared.

The characteristic good nature of Paganini, the celebrated Italian violinist, is well illustrated by the following anecdote: One day while in Vienna he hired a cab to take him from the hall where he had added one more to his long list of triumphs to his lorigings When Paganini awoke the next morn ing he found the cabman waiting for an interview. He, in fact burst into Paganini's private apartment.

"What do you want?" "Excellency, I come to solicit a favor of you-a very great favor. I am father of four cintaren and have the bonor to be your fellow countryman You are wealthy, your fame is un equaled, and if you please you can make my fortune.'

What do you mean?

"Well, authorize me to write in large letters at the back of my vehicle these two words: 'Paganin's Cab?' The musician consented, says Olga Ruester in an interesting volume en titled "Chats on Violins," and six months afterward the cubman was en joying a comfortable income solely derived from Paganim's cab.

Maste and Rigging.

Each of the three masts of all but very small vessels consists of a number of sticks one above another. The "heel" of the topmast comes a little below the "head" of the lower must and is secured by a "cap," a sort of iron band, and a bar, called a "fid." Above the topmast comes the topgal lant must and above that the royal

DAYTONA AND ITS SAW ATTRACTIONS.

DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifex River at its fairest expanse and maway between its source at Bulow Bay and its outlet rt Mosquito Inlet. It is in latitude 29, seventy-four miles from St. Augustine and one mile from the Atiuntic Ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty among the villages of the South. Its site is upon what is known as high bammock land that was crowned by nature with a most royal growth of majestic forest trees, and among these trees is the town of to-day, with its beautiful cottages and well-graded walks and streets. The result is that all along the wide avenues that intersect the town are lordly live and water oaks and hickories, many of them draped with graceful festoons of the gray Spanish moss, that overarch the street and walks, and among these are interspersed tall tropical palmettos. glossy-leaved magnolias, fragrant bays and coral-berried holly, and many other varieties, while in many places the wild grape, the trumpet vine and the ampelopsis climb and cling among the branches forming shady bowers and adding grace and beauty.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River, and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. This river is the delight of the angler and the yachtsman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run par allel with or intersect the river are all 100 feet wide, except Beach street. which is about sixty-five feet, but has of the surf measures about two feet. a half-mile of open, beautiful water abutting upon its eastern side, where the salt waves ebb and flow and along and across which comes the cooling, invigorating and health-giving breezes from off the wide Atlantic, which temper and render the Halifax climate one of the most perfect in the world Daytona has many miles of well-grad ed, marled and shelled roads and streets, rendering it the

An Innocent Gambler. "Cheyenne was a wide open town in the old days, and every hotel and bar had its little faro game and roulette wheel and stud poker game," said a man who was there. "Our party was staying at the Inter Ocean hotel. A long, loose jointed Missourian ambled in one night and butted into the poker game. There were two or three card sharps at the table, and every citizen carried his shooting iron. This long Missourian looked rather easy, but before he had been playing an hour he was $1,500 to the good. John Chase, proprietor of the hotel, became interested and watched the game. In a few moments he saw the Missourian turn a trick that was not strictly according to Hoyle, and he called the Missourian outside.

"'Now, see here,' said Chase, 'I want teeth. You don't seem to realize what

Animal Having the Most Teeth. The animal having the most teeth is the great armadillo of south Central and northern South America. It is a fact well known to most people that the normal or average number of teeth auto. See ad. Entrance on Magnolia, above and the same number below. The great armadillo, however, is an exception, having from 92 to 100. He has from twenty-four to twenty-six in each side of the upper jaw and from twentytwo to twenty four in each side of the lower jaw. Another peculiarity lies in the fact that they are all molars or grinders. They increase in size from front to back, instead of from the root, and are wholly destitute of enamel. Jury Subbing.

Mexico has an ingenious plan for fa-cilitating verdiets in jury trials. Two supernumerary jurors are drawn to sit near the jury box and listen to the evidence and arguments. If any of the regular jury falls ill or is otherwise disqualified from going on, one of the "supes" takes his place. In this way they avoid what is often seen in American courts-a long trial rendered useless when it is nearly finished by the sudden illness or death of one juror.

Madrid's Night Watchmen. Madrid still has the mediaeval night watchmen. They admit late comers to the apartment houses at night, but no longer sing out the hour or the condition of the weather.
